“Conservation Horticulture in the 21st Century”

By Dylan Hannon

Curator of Conservatory Collections at The Huntington Botanical Garden

Dylan will speak to conservation priorities and possibilities. How do we determine the value of plants in terms of conservation effort and resources? How are plants best kept in cultivation? These themes are narrowed to plants with provenance, or wild origin information. With the botanical riches in gardens and collections today it is more important than ever to develop ways to ensure their widespread use and appreciation. This talk is philosophical as well as practical and includes a number of case histories of “charismatic megaflores” such as Osa pulchra, Brighamia insignis, Dorsteria gigas, and others.

Her presentation will highlight her life with plants and always trying to answer the question: “Does she have a Passion for propagation or is it a Passion for plants?”

Monthly Plant Drawing News

Each month various nurseries and individual members donate plants for the plant drawing. Perhaps you sowed a few too many seeds, or rooted too many cuttings, or you need to divide some plants that have gotten too big for your garden. Here is your opportunity to find those plants some good homes. We also expect several plants from the SF Flower & Garden Show's "Hot Picks"

Monthly Plant Display and Discussion

Each month there is a lively discussion about plants brought in by our members. It may be a well grown specimen or an unusual discovery, or a plant that has attributes that are not known by the main stream. If you are interested in participating, bring in a plant to show to the group. You can also donate this plant afterwards to the plant drawing.
